高分范文1: Band 8

Purchasing a property such as a house or a building is categorized as a huge decision. So, in some countries, many people try to determine the house's history before they have decided to move in.

There are many reasons why many residence owners find out about the building's background. For example, a lot of countries particularly in Asia have similar mysterious myths about life after death. They usually believe that buying a house where criminal situations have happened or people have suicide could give their life struck in disastrous luck. Moreover, in some regions in Europe, most of the real estate were used as a palace before and the former owners probably were a royal family. Therefore, a lot of assets have been used for several decades and deserve to be preserved in the museum.

However, there are various ways to reach the residence's history. Firstly, ask the information from local residents ,especially those who have been living there for a long time because they could have enough pieces of information or experience about the house. As well as, plenty of informative data could be discovered on online platforms. For instance, the residence might have been sold by the previous owner or the oldest owners on the internet and they may provide the estate details besides if the building has been rented before, the tenants might write some housing reviews.

To conclude, every home has its own history. Inspecting the building's background could offer much beneficial information such as what we should do or what we should prepare before moving in.

高分范文2: Band 7

Nowadays, house owners became more excited about the past of their living places. There are some reasons for this tendency and methods of investigation.

Firstly, humans have a great sense of curiosity, and it is not a miracle that we would like to find out about the past of the constructions we live in. Householders care about respect and knowledge of the history gives more satisfaction.

Secondly, architecture and design received the most common interests. Forms and methods of structure and its construction gives pleasure and a deep understanding of the living place. For instance, I figured out that a previous owner of my apartment was one of the richest Chinese, but by that time he was poor yet. It gave me sensitivity and satisfaction in spending time there.

How can we investigate house history? On one hand, the best way is to have a real conversation with previous owners, talking to elders. Facing the past itself gives more happiness. Moreover, surfing the internet is another convenient method to get familiar with it. Although, I think is more preferable to attend the local library, where I used to find real contacts and detailed information. Everyone chooses their own way to search for it because the modern world helps enormously.

To conclude, homeowners may easily research history houses, because there are plenty of opportunities. A simple sense of curiosity and desire to have a fashionable lifestyle increase the number of people, who is interested in history and architecture. It brings a positive impact on building's care and prevents rapid destroying by nature and the environment.

高分范文3: Band 7.5

People are indeed getting keen on exploring the hidden history of their houses in certain areas. A variety of reasons might be relevant to the phenomenon, and there are several ways for them to perform the investigation.

Personally, there are three possible explanations associated with this issue. Firstly, people are curious about the past events in their childhood and adolescence in the household. Even a naive painting on the wall will stir the golden memory of being loved and cared for as a little kid under their parents' wings. Secondly, knowing the building's history can grant us a more realistic and thorough understanding of the apartments' advantages and disadvantages. In addition, many buildings used to have signs of many historical figures or celebrities; hence it might be rather romantic to figure out these stories.

To conduct an investigation, a number of sources can be useful. Senior family members should be asked initially. They have spent so many years in the building, leaving various traces of their own; thus, they are capable of sharing their life stories within the household. Moreover, the building manager can provide helpful information on this problem, because their job requires a profound grasp of what once happened in the house. Finally, online searching is always a good choice for gathering such knowledge, especially when your home might be a potentially important historical site with celebrities living in it.

In conclusion, an inspection of household history may be resulted from multiple reasons, while certain steps can be taken to fulfil this goal.
